Mr. Stimpson mads his inventions in 18.8, when he was a resident of Naw York city, and lived on the cyper of Charlton and Marchand when he was a resident of Naw York city, and lived on the error of Charlton and Macdougal stree's. In 1829 he removed to Baltimore, and carried with him a model of a street, with the grooved rails shown along it, and the identical short curve, with the flat rails to rec ive the thanges and increase the diameter of the outer wheels whilst turning the corners. There was also a "turning platform" on the same model, and a "seif acting switch." We understand there is a copy of this model now in the Patent Office, restored after the fire. In 1831 he obtained two patents, dated 231 of August, 1831, one of them patents, dated 23 I of August, 1831, one of them for a "new and useful improvement in the mode of turning short curves upon railroad;" the cther for the "mode of forming and using cust or wrought iron plates or rails for railroad tracks in cicies and elsewhere" Subsequently the Harlem company paid him for the right to use these

It was thought, npwards of twenty years ticn. What no man dared to attempt against to the support of the Government without havremerseless savages in the Florida war, the ling the cultivation of her most important crop rebel leaders are doing, before the eyes of all irremediably broken up and rendered valueless the world, against their loyal fellow-citizens, and there is not a rebel paper or man in tho whole rebel Confederacy to raise the cry of shamo at that or any other atrecity. Either have assumed the souls of devils.

What a comment is the publication in the Nashville-Louisville Conrier upon the hoast of Jeff. Davis, in his inaugural address, in regard to the conduct of the war on the part of himself and his rebels!

PROPOSED TAX ON TONACCO.-The Legisleture of Kentucky has passed joint resolutions which declare that this tax, as proposed by the bill now pending in Congress, is greatly disproportionate to the tax on other property and ought to be reduced, and that owing to the great difference in the value of different qualties and grades of tobacco, the tax on it ught to be ad valorem and not specific. In some comments which we made last week on tho subject of this tax we took the ground substantially that u tax, of five cents upon m snufactured tobacco, and of three cents uron strips, leaving leaf untaxed, would, in our opinion, produce a sufficient revenue as the quota of one staple of our State toward the support of the Government and the payment of the interest on its publie debt. We thought then, and mature reflection has confirmed us in the opinion, that leaf tobacco ought not to be taxed. The manufactures of the weed are proper subjects of taxation, but the rule of statesmanship which should fall on articles prepared for consump. tion and not on their production, for a different policy would most ussuredly act as a discouragement to the creation of the wealth of the nation. The Congressional tax bill very wisely exempts from taxation all producers of chaeco to an extent less than six hundred dollars in value. This is a saving clanso to many small agriculturists who keep their toa few of the necessaries of life which they cannot grow. The necessities of the nation are such that every superfluity of life must be taxed, and we therefore felt apprehensive that we could not induce Congress to withhold an we could not induce Congress to withhold an imposition of some sort on leaf tobacco when prepared for use, by the precess of stripping. It seems, however, to be the opinion of those who have dealt in tobacco for many years, that a tax on strips would prove detrimental to the Federal treasury by defeating the very object of the tax bill. The estimate of the number of the tax bill. The estimate of the number

This view of the case may be enforced h other facts. There are some dozen houses in Southwestern Kentucky engaged in this trade, all of whom have already purchased from the planters fully four-fifths of last year's crop at and made into strips, so that it would take from twenty to thirty-five thousand dollars to shed new lustre upon our flag." pay the tax of each house this season at three ents a pound, which would cut off all chance or any remuneration on work performed and give room for ruinous loss to each house. Rebel Bragg may be found wherever there are These strips made in our state are shipped direct to London or Liverpool hy way of New York, or by New Orleans when that route is open, and sold hy agents to the manufacturers in England, where they come in compelition with the growth of about twenty other tohacco regions, which are used as substitutes for our of three should be placed on the strips n this country, it would not effect the English market one farthing, unless it hould have a tendency to cut off the supoly and reduce the stocks now in that counry. We have said that leaf tohacco cannot stand a specific tax on account of its different qualities and gredes. The averege price of tohacco in Kentucky for the past twenty years will not xeeed four dollars per hundred on all grades, and this is about as low as it cen he produced, hough in some seasons the plenter does not get an average of even three dollars, and as it is a losing business at these prices, of course, ne cannot pey a tax of three cents. We do not see, either, how a tax can be placed on the present crop, grown in 1861, with any equality or justice, as it will all pass out of the hands of the planters before the first of May, when the revenue bill is to go into operation, and will be held by a few stemmers and man. nfacturers. taxation on its manufactures. All the remarks upon this subject made by members of the Legislature, pending the discussion of the resolutions to which we have referred, and all the conversations we have held with planters and dealers, accumulate the evidonce to convince us that tobacco cannot be grown and pay a tax of three cents a pound, and that if the bill passes in its present shape it will force our agriculturists to turn their attention to some other staple. It must have the effect to stop the cultivation of the weed to a vast extent, and perhaps altogether in those portions of our state where the coun

HENRY C. BURNETT IN DISGRACE -The rebel leaders are faint of heart and fleet o foot. Pillow and Floyd and Johnston have encountered a storm of indignation from their devils have assumed the shepes of men, or men deluded followers; and warm sympathizers with secossion in the First Congressional District, living not far from Cadiz, Trigg county, which is Burnett's town, charge him with the besest cowardice, which they say he has shown most shamefully since he was chosen Celonel of a regiment. His own soldiers do not scruple to declare that he is destitute of pluck and shows the white feather on all occasions of danger. Those who have seen him very recently assert that he has become of lato a miserable sot, and is drunk daily from morning till night. We suspected long ago that this was Burnett's real character, when he was blustering so loudly in Washington after havug taken the precaution to obtain promises inducing him to advance his pay though he knew it would be forfeited by his contemplated ect of treachery when carried out. The wretch returned home and repaid the men, who had shielded him from punishment most unwisely as we think, by inventing and circulating the blackest slanders against them. He was especially vindictive ugainst the gallaut James S. Jackson, to whom he had professed the warmest friendship. He has broken up some of the best citizeus in his county by swindling them in business matters. Of course this vulgar wretch is a pitiful cowerd, with less pluck han a bleating bull calf. The sight of a gun would throw him into an egue terror. He has all the elements of a rebel leader, for he is an ingrate, a sot, a bully, a swindler, and a cow-

ce of the Cincinnati Gazette. ON BOARD GUNBOAT MOUND CITY, NEAR ISLAND NO. 10, March 17. At six o'clock yesterduy morning the fleet was nrdey. Every preparation for immediate action was made. The Commodore's desire was to pass the day in testing the mortare. Eight mcrtar-hoats were towed to the river bank, within e couple of miles of the upper rebel hattery, and et ten o'clock they opened fire.

At ten o'clock the steambeat Ohio Belle—a Cincinneti boat seized by the rehels about nine months ago-appeared full in sight of ur, about a mile and a half distant. She monoted no gune that we could see, but had heavy burricedes of cotton pon her decks. We could not tell what was he connoite us. The Benton lived three shots at her, but without effect. She turned around and disappeared below the fortifications.

At 9 clock, while the mortar-hoats were being prepared for action, Commodore Foote heisted a flag of truce on the Beston, and sent an officer, a phose of a tay, with a massage to the rebel n board of a tng, with a massage to the rebal commonder, demanding the surrender of the pleco. The tng stepped at the upper fort for ebout five minutes, then turned round and steemed up to the diag-chip, without having delivered any message. A quarter of an hour after this a rebol boet, bearing a flig of truce, ap-peared et the head of the island. She evidently

March 18. In my letter of yos'e day—written early in the morning—I was about to say, "This day will witness the dawnfall of treason in another of its etrongholds." The dev has passed, and treason's strongholds at Island No. 10 has not fallon, and now, on the mouning of the 18 b, after as careful a reconneissance as could be made by a non-com-tatant, I venture the prediction that the place will not be taken without a strong land force to comperate with the gunboats.

The fortifications on the Island are not the work of a week, perhaps not of a moath. There is avery evidence that the ground was selected with a view to make a desperate struggle, and that the the side Main, three doors helow Fourth. m10dtf works were not erected to be alundoned on the approach of our forces. Daring the entire day the robels displayed great determination to held out to the last. At half past one o'clock their lag was cut down by a shot from the Menud City. In the midst of the heaviest canonnading, they planted it on its firmer sit; and, that we might take notice of the fact, one of their soldiers waved it with his band for a quarter of an hour.

During last night they removed their tente from the river bank, probably back from the range of our shell. This morning we heard heavy firing in the direction of New Madrid. We also saw the smcke of steamboats, and from the we infer that Commodore Illol ins has been attempting to force the blockade with his fleet of rebel gunboate.

Mrs. Butler, whose hushand owns the farm house shelled by Ayres' guns, took me into the attio where our 12 pounder want through, and talked with me a long while about the events aub equent to the hettle of the 18th. Her sympathles are on the rebel side, end so I caunot disbelleve her frightful and elckening narrative of the atrockles of the victors. Nineteen of our men were burled near ber house. But he afew weeks every coppe had been dug up, the flesh boiled or backed from the bones, and the latter distributed as mementoes of Southern conquest and barbarism. The stench engendered by this monstrous process was so herrible that the family had to leave the place, and much sickness easued among the troops. Mr. Butler contirmed the statement of his wife. There is no doubt of its truth. Among the einfi left bebind at the camps, joints of buman vertebre and human skulls scraped and polished, have been found to-day. Mrs. Butler told me that on the night of the 20th a mounted federal courier came within their lines and asked for Gen. McDowell's beadquirlers. Ashe put the his letters written at Manassas: for Gen. A Baltimore correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of March 16, writes as follows to thet paper: I have been put In possession to day of the following edditional facis in regard to the present position and probable movements of the late rabel army of the Potomac. If true, as I have every reason to believe, they show that that army, nearly 175,000 strong, has been withdrawn to a line that can he defended, for two weeks at least, with half is force, while the o her half is to be med for active and immediate offensive opera-tions. It is stated here, on good authority, that a week hefore the execuation proper had com-mered, General Joseph E Johnson had detached 25,000 of his hest troops by railroad to Suffolk and Weldon, in order to co-operate with another rebel army, near the latter place, in an attack on Ganral Burneide, and that after the evacuation, and eral Burnside, and that after the evacuation, and after seeing bis troops in the proper position on the new defenive live Genoral Johnson went down to Weldon to take commend of this movement, leaving the command of the army on the Rapidan to General Gustavna W. Smith. It is also said here, that, while the Merrimac is the largest, she is by no mean, the only vessel of the kind, or the most effective one, that the Confederates have; that they have no less then eight of these impenetrable reamenaters nearly ready. of these impenstrable sea-mensters nearly ready and that in a few days they will sall in compony, and inflict a blow upon the North which will entirely change the present aspect of the war.
